

ST JOHN'S COLLEGE

Head of Outdoor & Environmental Education

It gives me great pleasure to announce that St John's College and the Maretlwane Trust have appointed Malcolm Douglas to the position of Head of Outdoor & Environmental Education - Maretlwane, with effect from 20 March 2017. Malcolm replaces Alex Junod.

Malcolm matriculated at St Stithians and went on to do a BA in Archaeology at Wits. He worked as a game reserve manager before moving into the arena of education and training, in respect of field guiding and the environment itself. Over the last 25 years he has developed a comprehensive environmental knowledge, an expertise in course material development and the ability to inspire young people in natural settings.

Malcolm will join the venture between St John's College and the Maretlwane Trust, having worked for the last 5 years as manager of the Southern African Wildlife College's 'Wildlife Area Management Qualification Programme'. Alongside his managerial responsibilities he has lectured students from the SADC region in Ecology, Animal Studies, Plant Studies, Conservation Ethics and Cultural Heritage Management.

We believe that Malcolm's unique combination of experience and skills make him the ideal person to guide the St John's Wilderness School programme, together with the rest of the Maretlwane outdoor education programmes, into the next exciting stage of their development.

We look forward to welcoming Malcolm and his family to our extended community.
